The False Prophet of Soudan proclaims his purpose of invading Egypt and Arabia.

The Washington monument at the national capital was struck by lightning Sunday night. The apex was somewhat shattered, and the resetting of several stones will be necessary.

General W. S. Rosecrans yesterday entered upon his official duties as register of the United States treasury department, succeeding Mr. Bruce, the colored Mississippi ex-senator. If General Rosecrans had fought on the other side, he would not have had to wait two months for an office and then take one just vacated by a colored man.

Col. Vilas' enthusiasm.—The Philadelphia Press says: "The new postal card will be a delicate pink. We betray no secrets in stating that Postmaster General Vilas thinks seriously of having the mail bags printed in gold with four inch dabs of bird's egg blue and a large daisy in each corner. Reform and art go hand in hand clear through the whole civil service."

Cholera has made its appearance among the laborers on Quatre railway, and also at Rundi Buhn, India, the depot of the communistic camp. The surgeon-general of the U. S. marine hospital service has notified the health officers at Baltimore and the officer in charge of the quarantine station at Cape Charles that the ship Jupiter left Valencia, Spain, where the cholera is epidemic, April 25, bound for Baltimore. The secretary of state has received a dispatch from the consul-general at London, saying there is no foundation for the rumor of an outbreak of cholera in England.

The board of trade returns for May indicate the severity of the commercial depression in England. The imports were $6,000,000 less, and the exports $18,500,000 less than in the corresponding month of 1885. This shows that the depression continues along the whole line. The trade returns are peculiarly unfavorable, inasmuch as the exports declined in a much greater ratio than the imports. Every observer must come to the conclusion that trade is bad all over the world, and that only the slow, renovating process of time and economy can again put matters in a good business shape.

New York has a law recently enacted, forbidding the sale of any canned fruit, vegetables or other articles of food unless the cans or jars shall be labeled with the name of the packer and the quality of the article so packed. The law is to go into effect January 1, 1886, and was enacted for the purpose of preventing fraud and imposition in these popular articles of food. The law should also have required the date when the goods were put up to be stamped on the cans, as one of the worst frauds in the business is the selling of stuff two or three years old for freshly packed articles. If the law works well in New York, it should be enacted in other states.

Orthodox christians discover in Henry Ward Beecher's sermon on evolution evidences of his gradual conversion to Ingersollism. Once discredit the divine inspiration of the Bible, as Mr. Beecher did in his sermon of Sunday, and you concede to Ingersoll the main argument of the theological controversy. Knock the props out from under a fabric, and the structure falls. It is possible that Mr. Beecher's scientific solution of theological and biological problems is correct, but, by giving his radical views publicly in the argumentative manner he does, he does not help the cause of Christianity, to which his whole life has been devoted. Mr. Beecher stands on dangerous ground as a theologian.

Dispatches continue to be received about the earthquake in the Vale of Cashmere. Whole villages have been destroyed, and Dubcool, Jamalaper and Oran have disappeared entirely, having been completely engulfed in the awful convulsions. During the continuance of the shocks, a sulphurous dust was sent forth, impregnating the atmosphere. At the same time, volumes of hot water issued from the great fissures made in the earth. The first at Guranoo and the granaries in many parts of the Vale have been swallowed up. A large supply of rice and a considerable amount of money has been distributed throughout the Vale of Cashmere, to relieve the distress of the people. It is estimated that 200 persons were killed.

The city of Philadelphia appropriated fifteen hundred dollars as a sort of a pio- nio fund to entitle the mayor and common council of New Orleans to their anticipated visit as an escort to the old liberty bell which has been on duty at the World's exposition. The chances are that the money will not be used for the purpose indicated, as a court in the Crescent city has enjoined the expenditure of city funds for the proposed official picnic. The financial failure of the exposition will make it necessary to return the famous bell by freight and the three Philadelphia policemen who have guarded the relic in its temporary quarters will be furnished with the passes instead of police car tickets.

WISCONSIN NOTES

A coaching party of thirteen will go from Kenosha to Milwaukee on Tuesday the 19th inst. It will be the first concurring party that has gone into Milwaukee since the stage between Milwaukee and Madison stopped running.

The annual banquet of Merchants association of Milwaukees will take place the evening of June 23d. Postmaster General Vilas is expected to be present.

The Congregational church at Fond du Lac has given S. T. Kidder of Winona, Illinois, a call.

The first lake excursion of the season started from Milwaukee Sunday, but on the return trip a heavy wind storm struck them with such force as to delay the boat until yesterday afternoon.

The latest in the desecration of children came out a few days ago. A lady on one of the lake boats was sitting beside another woman who had a two month's old babe in her arms, and just as the boat reached Manitowoc, the second lady was taken sick and asking the other to hold it for a moment, stepped on shore. The deputy baby tender stood it very well until the steam started, but when no one came to take charge of the infant she began to see through the little scheme, somewhat late however for her own good, and she is now looking for some charitably inclined person in need of a baby.

THE GROWING CROP.

Interesting Notes of the Crop in the Tobacco-Growing Districts of the United States.

The Markets in Cured Leaf as Reported from the Various Sections.

NEW YORK.

The market has been very brisk during the past week, though there was not a great deal of European demand. As regards the new fine leaf tobacco for home consumption, the assertion is in place that every pound of it will be used in this country, provided no deterioration in appearance and quality sets in. At the present writing it is magnified in every respect. It is a doubtful doubt from Smyrna that there is an abundance of fine old seed leaf; this causes the increased demand for Sumatra. Let our market show a supply of the seed leaf, as it will do in a little while, and the sales of Sumatra will decrease correspondingly.

An unusual number of large manufacturers visited our market this week inspecting new tobaccos and also inquiring for fine old wrappers. The results were sales of 400 cases $3. House-to-house wrappers at about 35 cents; 200 cases $3 Wisconsin wrappers at 25 to 35 cents, and also 200 cases New York State. Household seed on private terms. Of the new tobacco 15 cases Connecticut seed at 11 cents; 300 cases Wisconsin, running at 25 cents; 120 cases Pennsylvania at 18 cents. The prices quoted here are to be taken from reports by interested parties.

Sumatra sold freely. Prices are quite accommodating the prevailing desire of sellers being the rapid disposal of old goods. The receipts of some of the new tobacco show very little suitable goods for here, and the chances are that these trial parcels will have to improve their appearance by a quick homeward voyage. Nevertheless, the seed leaf trade should not allow itself to be rocked into a wholeness of peace. The new Sumatra is a whole, is as good as any of the preceding crops, and the fine goods have merely been held back for speculative purposes.—Tobacco Journal.

AT HALDWINSVILLE.

Buyers are still here and buying continues in a desultory kind of way. There is no rush or unusual activity, but quietly buyers ride into the country, buy a few crops, receive them, and go and do so again. They don't exhibit much spirit about the matter, and keep wonderfully quiet about their purchases. Business is certainly more enjoyable to the buyer as well as the grower, when prices are plain and not subject to fluctuation.

Bastress are in excellent condition in this section, and setting will probably commence next week.—Gazette.

CONNECTICUT VALLEY.

Quiet reigns throughout the valley. A firm, hopeful, weighty, somewhat desultory feeling pervades all other holders of real estate. A better feeling exists in the New York market regarding this class of tobacco. Sales increase, but the prices are not given very fully, particularly is this the case when "St" tobacco are sold.

There are many causes that combine to give increased tone to the market. We will alude to only one or two at a time.

There is to be a general falling off in the acreage. This has been decided upon before the season for the planting of the seed beds. Secondly, the cold and hard winter season, causing a delay of from two to three weeks in the time of setting the new crop. All these causes tend to produce a change of feeling in the minds of dealers and manufacturers, and a disposition as manifies to secure a portion of the crop, which is believed by many will be the main factor in crowding the Sumatra from the market. We have time and again said in these columns that the only way to drive Sumatra from the country was by producing fine Havana seed, and not by laying on of prohibitory legislative enactments.—American Cigar Worker.

PENNSYLVANIA.

Friday, June 5.—Last week our report closes in a dull market. Manufacturers seem to be pretty well supplied, while speculators seem temporarily to have lost most of their interest in the market. The sales will reach 300 cases, among which we note several lots of last year's tobacco, which we are pleased to say is a favorable sign. In fact, even full inquiry among the traders reveals the universal opinion that our 1885 crop of Havana seed will not only turn out first in the market, but far better than has been anticipated at any time during the last six months. In fact, the packers have grown hopeful and are so far as quality goes, and we ask no excuse from any state. The sales of the week about equal those of last report. For the corresponding week of last year the transactions were 617 cases.—New Era.

THE JANESEVILLE DAILY GAZETTE.

The situation here is unchanged. We have not the precipitate fall in value that characterizes the other markets, but there is, instead, an unfeeling, slow movement of solid merit in the goods—a marked intent to be recognized in the country markets. Miami Valley planters are depending less and less on sea-sons and more and more on improved machinery and methods. There is another feature of the present activity that is worthy of mention—Little Dutch at 7 to 10 cents; seed leaf at 3 to 6 cents, and Zimmerman Spanish at 12 to 15 cents, must prove valuable property to the purchaser. Such figures are in no way commensurate with the cost of production, and prospective purchasers are likely to meet higher rather than lower figures.—Merchandise Bulletin.

DEATH SWEEPS DOWN ON MEXICAN PLAINS AND VALLEYS.

The Fatalistic Reach Over One Hundred

Two Wisconsin Villages Burnt Away—Half Plays Havoc With the Crops—Stock Killed.

EL PASO, June 9.—Sunday a water spot burst in the mountains about eight leagues west of Lagos, Mexico, near the dividing line between the states of Guanajuato and Jalisco. The effects were most deplorable, immense quantities of water swept down the mountains with irresistible force toward the well-populated plains and valleys below, and left desolation and ruin in their wake. There are already 100 lives reported lost, and it is feared the list may be swollen still larger when all the details are known. A great many houses were swept away. Steps have been taken in Lagos among the wealthy manufacturing classes to alleviate the pressing wants of many who escaped from the valleys, but lost everything.

Smashed by a Cyclone.

LA CROSSE, Wis., June 9.—The villages of New Albin and Victoria, forty miles south of this city, were almost destroyed Sunday by a cyclone.

New Albin is a small river town on the Paul road, a few miles from LaSalle, Iowa. The cyclone struck the town from the northwest about 1 o'clock. The railway elevator, a school-house and seven residences were leveled in an instant. The fronts of all business blocks were broken in, and twenty houses were unroofed. Many barns were blown to pieces unknown. Four people were injured, one child slightly. The loss to New Albin is vicinity is $20,000.

Victoria is a small village opposite New Albin on the Wisconsin side of the river, containing about fifty houses. All of them, including two small elevators, hotel, school-house, church, were wrecked or damaged. Loss about $10,000. Several houses were slightly burned. The cyclone raged nine minutes. Crops were badly damaged.

Reports of great damage from hill and wind in southern Minnesota, accompanied by unlimited orders for window glass, continue to pour in. No fatalities are noted.

MADISON, Wis., June 9.—A terrific and devastating wind, hail and rain storm passed over the northwestern part of Dane county Sunday afternoon, in a southerly direction, wrecking many buildings, trees, fence posts, tobacco and other outbuildings. In the towns of Westfield, South Prairie, Monroe, Coopers Grove, Medina and Madison, besides killing considerable stock. Hailstones, many inches in circumference, fell, breaking glass, stripping trees and ruining garden truck. Growing grain escaped in a measure because it is so small. In the village of Lodi, Columbia county, 4,000 panes of glass were shattered. du Sac, Sauk county.

Sounds Something Like Maelstrom.

RICHARD CENTRAL, Wis., June 9.—A terrific hill and wind storm swept over this country Sunday afternoon, doing tremendous damage to growing crops, stock, timber, house and other buildings. The storm was wide in extent, passing from west to east. In many places wheat, oats, corn and all growing vegetation was literally pulverized and driven into the ground. Incredulous as it may seem, buildings will bear the heavy weight of snow and ice. The ground measurements were half a foot in circumference. Many sheep, hogs and calves were killed and cattle and horses badly bruised by the falling hail. Roofs of buildings were splintered and shattered.

In several instances the hailstones went clear through roofs. Thousands of lights of glass on the sides of buildings exploded to the storm were broken. The storm raged with great fury for over an hour and at its cessation the hail covered the ground in many places to the depth of several inches. The wind also did great damage by unroofing buildings, uprooting trees, and destroying timber.

Very slight rains who recently escaped from big bear have arrived in Gon. Stanton's camp. Among them are a number of half-breeds and Indians.

Archibald Bourget of Montreal, breathed his last Monday. Other notable deaths are those of James Moncrieff Arnott, the eminent Scotch surgeon, at the age of 82; Commander Lewis Clark, of the United States navy, and Rev. Dr. D. D. Whedon, late editor of the Methodist Quarterly Review.

The Mexican government have issued a decree forbidding the building of Grand railway connection because of the small amount of work done on the roads.

In a complaint of $10,000 damages against James Moncrieff Arnott, his client, William D. and William Casey, their client, William D. Fleming charges the defendants with obtaining $500 from him under duress to settle pending legal action against him.

THE GAZETTE.

TUESDAY JUNE 9.

"WHY DON'T HE RESIGN?"
An Illinois Office-Holder Was Too Slow About It.

EDISON'S WICKED RELATIVE.

WASHINGTON CITY, June 9.—The president of the Illinois Central, Robert S. Collyer, to be United States Senator; Robert S. Collyer, for the territory of Montana; Thomas Jefferson Carr, for the territory of Wyoming; Ramon Martinez, for the territory of New Mexico; To be United States attorneys: Gustavus Van Hoornesber, for the southern district of Illinois, and Anthony C. Campbell, for the territory of Wyoming. To be postmasters: Martin V. Daggett, at Tucson, Iles.; Charles H. Adams, at Allegan, Mich.; Benjamin P. Louthain, at Logansport, Ind.; James V. Ward, at Cherokee, Iowa; B. F. Ross, at Cobden, Ills.; Edwin W. Cullins, at Martinsburg, Ind.

The action of the president and the attorney general in removing District Attorney Connally of the Illinois district, and appointing Mr. Gustavus Van Horne, to succeed him, has created a good deal of astonishment among Illinois people. Connally has repeatedly said that he would resign whenever the administration was ready to appoint his successor, and it was supposed that the appointment would not be made till the resignation was received, but Mr. Connally has been too deliberate in resigning. While the senatorial contest was going on, it was supposed to be in the interest of Col. Morrison that some of the general appraisers of the value of the office be retained, and that there has been no pretext for delay, and the attorney general has been anxious to get the matter settled. Both he and the president were assured that Connally would resign, and both of them rather sharply asked: "Well, why doesn't he resign?"

The removal was made for cause, the charge having been worked up by Examiner Bowman, who, although a Republican, attends to business strictly. The main charge was that Connally administered his office extravagantly for the government and expensively for individuals, by having every man in his office promoted to a high judicial district taken to Springfield for preliminary examination before a United States commission; instead of having the accused examined before the nearest commissioner.

SECRETARY BAYARD AT LAWRENCE.

A Great Crowd To Do Him Honor—Extract from What He Said.

LAWRENCE, Kan., June 9.—Monday was one of the greatest days in the history of this city, the occasion being the visit of Secretary of State Bayard. Mr. Bayard, his secretary, and Senator Vest arrived Sunday evening, and were received with great enthusiasm.

Tea would require an additional tax of 3 pence per pound to raise the duty 7% per cent on an innocent beverage.

The government had to choose between the two extremes of a smaller ad valorem tax on beer and spirits while declining to impose a flat tax on real property, and urged an increased tax on wines corresponding with that sought to be levied upon beer and spirits. The government's proposals, he declared, are unjust and financially unsound and will result in the buyer getting an adulterated article instead of a smaller quantity for his money. Why not tax to additionally?" The government was afraid to do so.

Six Stafford Northcote and others having spoken, Mr. Gladstone arose to reply. He thought the opposition were creating a panic which they would regret when they came into power again. The previous reduction of some duties had a beneficial effect in preventing adulteration and increasing the trade millions annually. It would be most impolitic to increase the wine duty unless under the most extreme circumstances. The removal of the import duty on beer was a danger which even now he was unable to say had passed away. The opposition caviled at the mode of raising money without suggesting an alternative. The removal of the import duty on beer was a danger which even now he was unable to say had passed away. The opposition caviled at the mode of raising money without suggesting an alternative. Tea would require an additional tax of 3 pence per pound to raise the duty 7% per cent on an innocent beverage.

The government had to choose between the two extremes of a smaller ad valorem tax on beer and spirits while declining to impose a flat tax on real property, and urged an increased tax on wines corresponding with that sought to be levied upon beer and spirits. The government's proposals, he declared, are unjust and financially unsound and will result in the buyer getting an adulterated article instead of a smaller quantity for his money. Why not tax to additionally?" The government was afraid to do so.

Six Stafford Northcote and others having spoken, Mr. Gladstone arose to reply. He thought the opposition were creating a panic which they would regret when they came into power again. The previous reduction of some duties had a beneficial effect in preventing adulteration and increasing the trade millions annually. It would be most impolitic to increase the wine duty unless under the most extreme circumstances. BRIEFS.

—Polo to-night Milwaukee vs. Jamesville. Skating free of charge.

—Ortional Lodge No. 22, K. of P., assembled in Castle hall this evening.

—The polo game at the rink to-night will commence at nine o'clock, sharp.

—Janesville City Lodge (No. 90, I. O. O. F.), occupy Odd Fellows' hall this evening.

—Mr. D. Strunk, who is now traveling in Texas, has our thanks for late Texas exchanges. Mr. Strunk is now in Waco.

—Miss Nellie Adams, of Chicago, who has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. R. Braud, on Lima street, fourth ward, for the past week, returned to her home this afternoon.

—Master George Bauman and sister, Miss Augusta Bauman, son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bauman, North Main street, are visiting relatives and friends at Merrill, Wis.

—Mrs. N. C. Palmerer has removed her stock of hair, stamping, and embroidery goods to McKay Bros. store, on West Milwaukee street, where she will be pleased to meet all her old friends.

—Mr. J. P. Worthington met with an accident last evening by which he broke one of the bones of his right leg above the ankle. His fractured limb was immediately attended to and he is now doing well.

—Remember the game of polo between the Bay Views, of Milwaukee, and the Riverwinds, of Janesville, at the rink to-night. The Riverwinds club has been reorganized and is now stronger than ever. The Bay Views are counted one of the best clubs in the state.

—Mr. J. F. Cordray, the gentlemanly advance agent for the famous electric clock is in the city making arrangements to exhibit this wonderful piece of mechanism. It was on exhibition at the Worlds exposition and was shipped from there to Janesville.

—Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Foote, of Milwaukee, are in the city. Mr. Foote is a son of the Rev. Hiram Foote, for many years pastor of the First Congregational church of this city, and is now the northwestern agent of the Alurene (Lotta) steam fire engine, and dealer in fire department stores.

—The real estate firm of Wheeler & Stevens has sold the S. C. Decker farm of 40 acres in the town of Janesville for $27,000, making 140 acres they have sold in the last few weeks. These sales aggregating $32,000. It is plain to see where to place your property. Parties wishing to purchase will find it to their advantage to call on Messrs. Wheeler & Stevens.

—The Rockford Register: "At Janesville the agricultural association have a novel attraction for their coming fair. They have engaged a nine of professional female base ball players. They are Philadelphia girls and surely the engagement of these artists will demonstrate the fact that there is nothing so amusing to male eyes as the sight of a woman trying to hit the side of a barn with her awkward body into a pulp, terrible to look upon."

The conductor of the train saw the whole affair, but was not able to afford the least help until it was all over, when he called the train man, and had the dying man taken to the European hotel. He was dead however, before they could get him into the house, life going out within fifteen minutes from the time he was run over.

Mr. Ferris was an old and experienced railroad man, had always borne an excellent character, and was very highly respected by all who knew him. He had no family, but was one of the chief supporters of his mother, who lives in China, at No. 16 Artesian avenue, and the news will be a terrible blow to her, coming as it does, so unexpectedly. As he has no relatives in this section, the body will probably be sent to Chicago for burial, and the remains were washed and prepared for transportation last night.

—Miss E. Lettie Williams, for the past year and a half stenographer in Messrs. Valentine Bros. office, has organized a school of short hand in Jackman's block and already has quite a large number of pupils. The system she teaches is very easily acquired and her terms are low. Parties interested can receive full particulars by calling at the school, or by addressing P. O. box 655 when circulars are sent to all the papers.

—The lawn party given last evening by the Young Ladies Guild of Trinity church, was a great success. Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Doe's spacious residence was filled to overflowing, and had the night been so cold, there would undoubtedly have been a still larger attendance.

Everybody made themselves thoroughly at home, ice cream, strawberries and cake were done fall justice to, and when the company dispersed, all agreed that the time had been spent very pleasantly.

—Private letters received from members of the Burr Robbins' show company state that the canvas was wrecked in a gale at Grinnell, Iowa, on Saturday evening.

The storm struck the canvas just as the performance commenced, leveling everything to the ground. The canvas was full of people at the time, and when the wreck came there was a general panic among men, women and children all crying for help. The tent was torn in pieces in the endeavor to get the people out of the wrecked mass. Luckily but very few were injured, and so far as known none very serious.

—The 13th Regiment of Wisconsin volunteers will hold their annual reunion at Albany, Green county, on Thursday, June 11th. The good people of Albany will give a free dinner to all soldiers, and coffee and tea free to everybody. A special train—an excursion rates—will leave Janesville at 9:30 a.m., and return about 6 p.m. Everybody is invited.

This excursion will afford the people of Janesville an opportunity to visit the beautiful village of Albany on the banks of Sugar river, and attend the re-union of the old 13th Regiment at the same time. A more pleasant excursion could not be planned at this season.

—The fresco work on the Baptist church is now well under way. The ground tint has been put on, and the workmen are now at the panels on the ceiling. The auditorium is to be finished up in tints rather lighter than those heretofore used in the churches of the city, and the effect will be pleasing, light and home-like, rather than massive and solid as has formerly been the style. The panels are to be finished in three solid colors, with some picture or ornament from the top of the ceiling towards the sides; and around the top of the walls will be a moulding or cornice, decorated with stucco, in representation of a wreath of flowers. Brightness and beauty have been especially aimed at in the patterns, and from what can be seen at this time, it is evident that the room will be well carried out. Messrs. Lawson & Charlson, the gentlemen engaged in the affair, have had much experience in this branch of decorative art, having finished some of the finest churches in the west, and the Baptist church is now well under way.
